LIFE—my life for a thousand 2*Henry VI.* iv. 10
 thou prefer'st thy life before 3*Henry VI.* i. 1 right depends not on my life, or death thy priesthood on my life 1. 2 to renew, by life, or death 1. 4 life; here must I stay, and here my life prolong a while the traitor's life 1. 4
 now in his life against your holy 1. 4
 I should not for my life but weep 1. 4 for yet is hope of life, and victory 1. 4 methinks, it were a happy life 1. 5
 ah, what a life were this! how sweet!
 yield both my life and them to thee 1. 5
 my life, have by my hands of life 1. 5
 if any life be left in thee 1. 5 gave thee life too soon (rep.) 1. 5 like life and death's departing 1. 6 o'erashes his beard of life 1. 6 would but two hours' life 1. 6 gentleman did lose his life 1. 6 while life upholds this arm 1. 6 fair hope must hinder life's decay 1. 6 myself will lead a private life 1. 6 high reward, and he his life? 1. 6 envious gulf did swallow up his life 1. 6 dost thou come? is't for my life? 1. 6
 if any spark of life be yet remaining 1. 6 Edward shall lead of life 1. 6 windows, that let forth thy life 1. 6
 my life. Black night o'erhades (rep.) 1. 6 upon my life, she finds 1. 6 is outrage, life my shame 1. 6
 my dream was weighed against life 1. 6 reward you better for my life 1. 6 would not entreat for life? 1. 6 of my sovereign's life 1. 6 in his life; yet none of you would (rep.) 1. 6 my husband lost his life to get 1. 6 in fame though not in life 1. 6
 ay, on my life; and hopes to find you my life as dear as yours 1. 6 never in my life [Col. Knave's] 1. 6 now, for my life she's wandering more miserable by the life of thee 1. 6 dead life, blind sight, poor mortal 1. 6 grave's due by life usurped 1. 6 cancel his bond of life 1. 6 shame serves thy life, and doth thy save her life. I'll say, she is not so (rep.) 1. 6 blessed thee with a fairer life 1. 6 kingdom, kindred, freedom, life 1. 6 fair life's end, and her long life (rep.) 1. 6 thy life hath that dishonoured 1. 6 upon my life, my lord 1. 6
 one that never in his life felt 1. 6
 I have set my life upon a cast 1. 6 lose some life, which costs a self 1. 6
 my life is spanned already 1. 6
 my life itself, and the best heart of it unfit for other life, compelled 1. 6
 by my life, this is (rep. 1. 4) 1. 6 much he spake of his life for life for further life in this world 1. 6 Henry the eighth, life, honour, name of my long weary life is come 1. 6
 by my life, she never knew (rep.) 1. 6 should do no more offices of life to 1. 6
 by my life, and kindly dignity 1. 6
 I know my life so even 1. 6
 more near my life, I fear 1. 6 prayers, while I shall have my life 1. 6
 the place and honour, during my life 1. 6
 the articles collected from his life 1. 6 to have given me longer life 1. 6 both of my life and office 1. 6 remember your bold life too 1. 6
 how much must his life be 1. 6
 send prosperous life, long 1. 6 into whose hand I give thy life 1. 6 for thy stretched-out life 1. 6 our project's life this shape 1. 6 whose life were ill bestowed 1. 6
 you touched the life of our design 1. 6
 and by my life, you shall make 1. 6
 I'll lay my life, with my 1. 6
 I'll play the hunter for thy life 1. 6 now, by Another life, welcome 1. 6 a Grecian's life hath sunk 1. 6
 I shall have such a life 1. 6 and thy life shall be as safe 1. 6 is yonder, dealing life 1. 6 to catch my life, so is his life 1. 6 life every man holds dear (rep.) 1. 6
 and pay thy life thou owest me 1. 6
 I reck not though I end my life to-day against, thus hath cost thy life 1. 6 close the day, and live my life 1. 6 pursue thy life, and live away with 1. 6
 it is a pretty mocking of the life 1. 6
 these touches, livelier than life 1. 6
 like madness is the glory of his life 1. 6
 I never tasted Timon in my life 1. 6 to hazard life for ill? 1. 6
 a sufficient briber for his life 1. 6
 he owes the law his life 1. 6 with him to supply his life 1. 6
 that the whole life of Athens were 1. 6 oft thou shouldst hazard thy life for of thy kindred were jurors on thy life 1. 6 still serve him with my life 1. 6 gave life and influence to thy life 1. 6 sustain in life's uncertain voyage brave death outflows bad life 1. 6
 I do owe them still my life 1. 6 prefer a noble life before a long 1. 6 which never I shall discharge to the life than mine own life, my dear life 1. 6 mistake me not, to save my life 1. 6 would bewray what life we have led thou hast never in thy life 1. 6

LOVE—my son Paris! love..... Romeo & Juliet, iii. 4 believe me, love, it was the nightgale look, love, what envious streaks art thou gone so? my love! my lord!
convey my greetings, love, to thee trust me, love, and in my eyes do you some grief shows much of love to wreak the love I bore my cousin even for hate, that is meant love I cannot love, I am too young therefore have I little talk of love must be, love, on Thursday next that you love me, I will confess (rep.)
I am sure, that you love me an unstained wife to my sweet love love, give me strength
gave him what became love I might why, love, I say! madam!
O love! O life! little love, but love in this love, you love your child so ill is love itself possessed, when but love's my obsequies, and true love's rites?
that murdered my love's cousin O my love! my love! dear father! here's here's to my love! O true apothecary my master, one that you love
a cup, closed in my true love's hand?
their course of love, the tidings of her means to kill you ever, sweet love!
as needful in our loves, fitting..... Hamlet, i. 1 no less nobility of love, than that for God's love, let me hear I will requite your loves your loves, as famine deaden'd his then, he says he loves you, it fits he hath importuned me with love if thou didst ever love, dear father, live as meditation or the thoughts of love whose love was of that dignity with all my love I do commend express his love and friendship to you mad for thy love, my lord, I do not this is the very ecstasy of love than hate to utter love: come but never doubt I love..... ii. 2 (letter) but that I love thee best..... ii. 2 (letter) but how hath my heart deceiv'd me?
had seen this love not on the wing looked upon this love with idle sight if he love her not, and be not from I suffered much extremity for love obligation of my ever-renewed love if you love me, hold not off that I love passing well
the affliction of his love, or no pangs of despised love, the law's delay
I did love you once, and so I do love! his affections do not that way grief sprung from neglected love his brief, my lord. As woman's love since love our hearts, and Hymen does again count our true love done!
as they love; and women's fear and love love is, proof hath made you know (rep.)
where love is great, the littlest doubts great love grows from the smallest beginnings such love would tend to treason respects of thrift, but none of love even our loves should on our fortunes love lead fortune, or else fortune love and hitherto doth love on fortune's wheel interpret between you and Gonzago's the murderer gets the love of Gonzago's my lord, you once did love me too bold, my love is too unmanly
the fair forehead that I see in you you cannot call it, love
and making love over the nasty sty mother, for love of grace, lay not that was our love, we would not understand if my love thou hold'st at aught how should I your true love know nature is fine in love
instance of itself after the thing it loves remembrance; pray you, love, remember great love the universal general bear him your father, and we love ourselves not love your father (rep.)
within the very flame of love a kind of
in youth when I did love, did love quantity of love make up for want of it for love of God, forbear him as love between them like the palm they did make love to this employment
I receive your offered love like love am affianced to love the Moor, my lord not I for love and duty, but seeming so I must show out a flag and sign of love but that I love the gentle Desdemona of my whole course of love, what drugs to fall in love with what she feared thrive in this fair lady's love that I did love the Moor to live with the rites, for which I love him
I have but an hour of love, of worldly
I shall never love him what she feared a man that knew how to love himself drown myself for the love of a Guinea-whereof I take this, that you call—love should long continue in love to the Moor love's quick pants in Desdemona's arms
our loves and comforts should increase I have found great love amongst them base men, being in love, have then Desdemona is in love with him and will she love him still for prating?
that Cassio loves her (rep.)
now I do love her too.....

LOVE—thank me, love me, reward me..... Othello, iii. 1 come, my dear love; the purchase made for the love of his Desdemona speaks, is it not an altar to love?
whom love has turned almost the wrong
I do love Cassio well
on thy love, I charge thee
love doth mince this matter (rep.)
look if my gentle love be not raised up I think, you think I love you this crack of your love shall grow stronger the sincerity of love, and honest kindness his soul is so enfeathered to her love you, of all loves, O God! for love's sake but, he protests, he loves you
you do love my lord
general will forget my love and service
if he be not one that truly loves you good love, call him a liar
a suit, wherein I mean to touch your love but I do love thee! and when I love wood my lady, know of your love?
love me, show me thy thought (rep.)
know thou art full of love and honesty loves not his wronger
yet strongly loves. O misery!
my wife is fair, feeds well, loves company away at once with love or jealousy to show the love and duty that I bear you what is spoke comes from my love
a corner in the thing I love for others' uses but she so loves the token be sure thou provest love's faithfulness from hence, I'll no friend, since love by foolish honesty and love wary, let us hide our loves!
all my fond love thus do I blow yield up, O love, thy growth ne'er ebb to humble love
I greet thy love, not with vain thanks my father entirely to her love founded his good fortune on your love and be a member of it
can ransom me into his love again I faith, sweet love, I was coming love, that I love you not (rep.)
love man so. Alas poor rogue (rep.) out of her own love, she flatters for the love I bear to Cassio
if e'er my will did trespass 'gainst his love love him dearly, comfort forswear me!
defeat my life, but never taint my love my love doth so agree with mine
she was in love; and he, she loved
I called my love, false love
I will kill thee, and love thee after heavenly! it strikes where it doth love they say they are loves I bear to you warranty of heaven as I might love villany hath made mocks with love recognition and pledge of love

MAN—the man that mocks at it Richard II. i. 3
 what comfort man? ii. 1
 out with it boldly ii. 1 grown bankrupt, like a broken man ii. 1 thou art a banished man ii. 2
 for every man that Bolingbroke ii. 2 easily won to fawn on any man! ii. 2 of comfort no man speak ii. 2 speak sweetly, man ii. 2
 let no man speak again to alter ii. 2 banishment on you proud man ii. 2 speak fondly, like a frankish man ii. 2 make a second fall of man ii. 2
 look upon that man ii. 2
 shall I make to this base man ii. 2 will no man, say amen? ii. 2 thou haught, insulting man (rep.) ii. 2 no man cried, God save him! ii. 2 he is as like thee as a man may be ii. 2 can no man tell of my unthriftiness ii. 2 that no man enter till my tale ii. 2
 the true man's put to ii. 2
 believe not this hard-hearted man ii. 2
 I would thou wert the man that ii. 2 where no man never comes ii. 2 break the neck of that proud man ii. 2 ceased to be aware of man ii. 2 in the streets, and no man regards it. Henry IV. i. 2
 if a man should speak truly i. 2
 for a man to labour in his vocation i. 2 that ever cried, Stand, to a true man i. 2 never hold that man my friend i. 2
 upon the head of this forgetful man i. 2 truly as a man of falsehood may i. 2 purchase, as I am a true man i. 2 to turn true man, I go i. 2 happy man be his dole i. 2 roguery to be found in villanous man i. 2
 why, you whoreson round man! i. 2 what a hundred, man! I am a rogue i. 2 deal's better since I am a man i. 2 bound, every man of them i. 2
 I would give no man a reason upon i. 2 manner of man is he? An old man i. 2 it blows a man up like a bladder i. 2 and yet there is no man i. 2
 what manner of man, an 'it like (rep.) i. 2
 if that man should be lewdly given i. 2 fat old man; a tun of man is i. 2
 my lord, the man I know i. 2 becomes a cart as we do, and a man i. 2 a gross fat man. As fat as i. 2 to answer thee, or any man i. 2
 I think, there is no man speaks i. 1
 why, so can I; or so can any man i. 1 that man is not alive, might i. 1

 as many a man doth of a death's head i. 1 so has my husband, man by man, boy i. 1
 is an honest man i. 1
 I am a foul-mouthed man as he is i. 1
 I am an honest man's wife i. 1 man knows not where to have her (rep.) i. 1
 as thou art but man, I dare i. 1
 I have more flesh than another man i. 1 heart's love, hath no man (rep.) i. 1 tush man, mortal men, mortal men i. 1 yea, every man shall be my friend i. 1
 and that no man might draw short i. 1
 I gave you all the true man i. 1
 let each man do his best i. 1 have better spared a better man i. 1 of a man, who hath not the life of a man i. 1
 tell me, this fat man is a life i. 1
 I am not a double man; but if I i. 1
 if the man were alive, and would deny i. 1 and not a man of them brings. 2 Henry IV. (Induc.) yea, this man's brow, like to i. 1 even such a man, so i. 1
 he is a man who with a double i. 1 and counsel every man the apostle i. 1
 this foolish compounded clay man i. 1
 as if he had writ man ever since i. 1
 if a man is in thorough with lord i. 1
 did I say you were an honest man? i. 1
 all the other gifts appertinent to man i. 1 a man can no more separate i. 1
 the utmost man of expectation i. 1 neither woman, man, nor child i. 1 what man of good temper would i. 1
 if thou wert an honest man, thyself i. 1
 if a man will make court'sy i. 1 let the end try the man i. 1
 it would be every man's (rep.) i. 1 what a maidenly man at arms i. 1
 every man must know that i. 1
 I will bar no honest man my house i. 1 than will do me good, for no man's i. 1
 the fiery Trigon, his man, cheer i. 1

 Will Squelch, a Cotswold man i. 1
 it would have done a man's heart good i. 1
 I knew him as good backword man i. 1
 when a man is, as they say (rep.) i. 1 but if he had been a man's taller (rep.) i. 1
 the man can die but once i. 1 no man's too good to serve his prince i. 1 man? care I for the limb (rep.) i. 1
 give me this man; he presents no i. 1

 of this little kingdom, to a str i. 1

MAN—no man could better command. Henry IV. v. 1. though no man be assured what
 that have a man so bold, that dares had been a man of this mettle then say an old man can do somewhat which blows no man to good deliver them like a man of this world Harry the fifth's the man
 let us take any man's horses there hath been a man or two for the man in dead, that you and Pistol thou thin man in a censer!
 speak to that vain man
 I know thee not, old man dreamed of such a kind of man I will be the man yet, that shall and this is not the man: my tongue thousand parts divide one man. Henry V. i. (chorus) [Col. Kent.] when the man dies, let the state of man in diverse functions plodded like a man for working-days let every man now task his
 in the breast of every man endure cold as another man's sword show the valour of a man, and put up nay, but the man that was his
 if each man do his best enlarge the man committed (rep.)
 and this man hath, for a light to mark the full-fraught man is like another man's sword
 if ever man went to Arthur's bosom what, man! be of good cheer there's nothing so becomes a man could not be a man to me antics do not become to a man never broke any man's head but as well as any military man in being as good a man as yourself and a man that I love and honour and he is a man of no estimation here comes the man. Captain let man go free, and let not hump he is not the man that he would
 the duke is a brave man
 the duke had lost never a man
 if your majesty know the man nay, the man hath no wit
 the king is but a man (rep.)
 no man should be a king
 as every sick man in his bed
 'tis certain, every man that dies ill wish not one man more (rep.)
 we would not die in that man's company shall the good man die his son verish the man, whose mind
 the man, that once did sell the
 not so much of man in me
 and not a man of them, that we
 as your majesty are honest
 if any man challenge this
 I would fain see the man
 I met this man with my glove appeared to me but as a common man de tongues of men are full of
 as man and wife, being two
 what say'st thou, man, before dead. Henry VI. i.
 a third man thinks, without I'll ne'er fly from a man
 a baser man arms far O Lord, have mercy on me, woful man
 she hath beheld the man whose
 is this the man? (rep.)
 dare no man answer in a rage
 it will glimmer thru' a blind man's eye even like a man new haled
 more than well becoms a man to be a man just and upright twit with cowardice a man half dead
 as good a man as York
 ill beseeching any common man no simple man that sees this
 a breathing valiant man sell every man his life as dear
 the cause I cannot aid the man that ever-living man of memory
 a man of great authority in Charles the Dauphin is a proper man fond man! remember, thou hast sure the man is mad
 you have suborned this man a married man! that's most but privilege of a private man than a man of arms. Henry VI. i. were I a man, a duke, and next nay, fear not, man, we are alone
 what say'st thou, man? hast thou make merry, man, with thy for he's a good man! Jest my lord cardinal's man, for York is meekest man to be your is most unmet of any man because here is a man accused of this is the man that doth accuse his say, man, were these thy words?
 do not cast away an honest man for the spite of man prevaileth against me yes, man and birds, are fain of
 had not your grace put me a blind man at Saint Alban's (rep.)
 the greatest man in England in the Isle of Man (rep. ii. 4)
 the armourer and his man drink, and fear not your man
 as it were, upon my man's instigation and myself an honest man
 not his wont to be the hindmost man Humphrey is no little man in England Gloster is a man surrounded yet
 the cutting short that fraudulent man

MAN—wrong, nor no man wrong. Henry VI. i. 1.
 no man alive so fain as I fear keep with the man-born man didst ever hear a man so penitent?
 woe is me for Gloster, wretched man!
 full ghastly like a strangled man that no man should disturb your
 a cunning man did calculate an honest man, and a good bracklayer scribbled o'er, should undo a man?
 and I was never mine own man since the man is a proper man
 like an honest plain-dealing man?
 shall be encountered with a man as good
 why dost thou quiver, man?
 not amiss to cool a man's stomach
 to combat a poor famished man
 she hath lost her best man
 art thou the man that slew him?
 can brook I bow a knee to man
 is the man grown mad?
 to rob a man, to force a spotless
 ah wretched man! would I had died. Henry VI. i. 1. hated both of God and man
 he is a man, and Clifford, cope with him
 why art thou patient, man?
 and tho' man's face be fearful years a mortal man may live this man, whom hands and hand to some man else, as this dead man being the earl of Warwick's man
 weep, wretched man
 [Col.] man, for the loss of thee
 here comes a man, let's not a man comes for redress
 a man at least
 do I not breathe a man?
 to the man that took him
 am I then a man to be loved become a banished man
 each man take his stand
 nay, this way, man
 tush, man! abedements (rep.)
 the good old man would have surly Warwick mans the wall
 naked, foil a man at arms
 suspect a fearful man
 he was a man
 and many an old man's sigh
 and that good man of worship. Richard III. i.
 there is no man secure
 that no man shall have private
 we speak no treason, man know'st no law of God nor man?
 vouchsafe, diffused infection of a man
 then man was never true myself to be a marvellous proper man
 a man that loves not me
 cannot a plain man live
 no man but prophesied revenge
 as I am a christian faithful man
 a man a coward; a man cannot (rep.)
 a man, as you are. But not spur at his edict, and fulfil his man?
 and no man in the presence
 but he, poor man, by your first
 my brother killed no man
 and not a man of you had so
 not a man would speak and make me die a good old man!
 reason almost with a man that more can you distinguish of a man that Julius Caesar was a famous man
 'an if I live until I see a man
 chop off his head, man
 where is your boar-spear, man?
 I tell thee man, 'tis better with me when I met this holy man, the men than my lord Basset, no man mit there's ne'er a man in Christendom that with no man here he is offended so dear I loved the man, that I true ornaments to know a holy man I partly know the man
 by the man that slew her brothers away alone, no man knows whither every man's conscience is a thousand every man unto his charge.
 enacts more wonders than a man
 a man may weep upon his. Henry VII. (prol.) every man, that stood, showed no man's pie is freed from his every man, after the hideous not a man in England on his knee free pardon to each man that this man so complete, who was there's mischief in this man
 in freedom, and this man out of prison?
 the noble ruler of men you speak of this from a dying man receive a man of my lord cardinal's slept upon this bold bad man or this imperious man will work
 the man that you shall such a man I would have wished for
 in this man's place before him (rep.) kept him a foreign man still grieve an able man, to leave so that man I'll out world, who shall like a good man, your late censure
 the prime man of the state?
 went beyond all man's endeavours
 and no man see me more dare state a sinner man than I could despise this man, but that I press not a falling man too far this is the state of man (rep.)
 wonder, a great man should decline?
 too heavy for a man that hopes
 but he's a learned man

MAN—I am a poor fallen man. Henry VIII. i. 1.
 how can man then, the image
 that ever lay by
 no man living could
 a man in much esteem
 as a man sorely tainted alas, poor man! at last an old man, man broken with
 he was a man of an unbonded greater honours to his age than man or let me lose the fashion of a man!
 tongues, than I myself, poor man
 what manner of man are you?
 look, the good man weeps
 to suffer a man of his place childish pity to one man's honour
 a man that more detests
 no man dare accuse a brave man thing but a private man again
 'tis a cruelty to load a falling man of this man to be vexed against this man, (whose honesty
 good man, sit down (rep.)
 every man shall eat in safety thou hast made me now a man this day, no man think he has he is a very man, per se (rep.) Troilus & Cress. i.
 Hector is a gallant man Troilus is the better man is he so young a man, and so old is better than any man in all Phrygia an 'twere a man born in April Enesias; is not that a brave man?
 and he's a man good enough (rep.)
 I brave man? O a brave man! (rep.)
 do you know what a man is?
 season a man? Ay, a minced (rep.)
 one who is a man, and a man (rep.)
 a man distilled out of our virtues in taint of our best man (rep.)
 what's the matter, man?
 no man is beaten voluntary though no man let me fear the propugnator there is in one man's he is a privileged man; proceed
 if you will favour the man
 a better man than I am?
 why should a man be proud (rep.)
 here is a man, but 'tis before I wished myself a man
 wise, and love, exceeds man's might
 and are the proud man's fees
 not a man, for not being simple man that man—how dearly 'tis parted that no man is the lord of anything heavens, what a man is there!
 how one man eats into another's
 thou greatest man
 than an effeminate man
 the man's undone for ever what think you of this man a man may wear it on both sides
 no man can love, in such a naughty man, let it sleep?
 you're an odd man; give even (rep.)
 gentle, and too free a man
 let an old man embrace thee proud man, to answer such any man will not
 never did young man fancy
 life every man holds dear; but (rep.)
 how now, young man! mean'st better file a lion, than a man that, unless I were a curse much more a fresher man, had I this is the man I seek great Hector was as good a man as he
 of most incomparable man. Timon of Athens. i. 1. shamed a man, who's the man with one man beckoned from
 call the man before thee
 I am a man that from my
 this man of thine attempts
 the man is honest
 almost the natural man; for since (rep.)
 which will not cost a man a doit
 the strain of man's bred out into
 that ever governed man
 a humour there does not become a man
 but yond' man's ever angry dip their meat in one man's blood is the readiest man to kill him a huge man, I should fear to drink which is a man, and a man I pray for no man but myself (rep.) i. 2 (grace)
 that man might ne'er be wretched that man goes up and down in nor thou altogether a wise man I pray thee, man, let me
 every man has his fault, and honest denied that honourable man?
 O see the monstrousness of man
 I was the first man that e'er received
 when he made man's path
 the villanies of man
 he is a man, setting his fate aside the worst that man can breathe
 but who is man, that is not angry?
 when man's word, that would
 this is the old man still
 each man to his stool
 lend to each man enough (rep.) iii. 6 (grace)
 of man, and beast, the infinite be of Timon, man, and all humanity!
 when man's word, that would
 and say, this man's a flatterer?
 showing me again the eyes of man?
 is man so hateful to thee (rep.)
 with man's blood paint the ground
 a man! if thou dost perform (rep.)
